EARLY HISTORY OF HONG KONG

The history of the Hong Kong community is really much longer than the history of the Colony itself. It begins with the arrival of the first Europeans, the Portuguese, on the China coast, in 1513, and in the problems they faced in trying to establish commercial relations with China, where the main current of authoritative opinion was traditionally not interested in foreign trade.

By dint of persistence, the Portuguese were allowed to establish themselves at Macao, in 1557, but when the British and Dutch reached the Far East, in the first decade of the 17th century, they found their way blocked by Chinese refusal to deal with any Europeans other than the Portuguese. Operating from their base at Bantam, in West Java, the East India Company first established a trading factory near Nagasaki, Japan (1613-23), but it proved a commercial failure and was closed down. Beginning with the Weddell expedition in 1635, a number of British attempts were made to open trade with Canton, Amoy, and other Chinese ports; but it was not until 1700 that regular British trade with China began, as a result of a change in Chinese policy, permitting trade with countries that did not acknowledge China as suzerain.

From then on, European trade with China developed steadily, with the British as the principal European nation concerned. From about 1705 the East India Company had a house in Canton, but Europeans were obliged to quit the city during the off-season. Other European Companies and individual traders soon solved this problem by renting houses in Macao, a practice which, though strictly against Portuguese law, was tolerated. In 1773 East India Company followed the example of other nations and established themselves permanently in Macao, the Company's officers proceeding to Canton for each trading season.

Trade with the Chinese was conducted through a Chinese monopoly guild, charging prices far in excess of market values, and itself subject to ruthless extortion by corrupt officials. Two British diplomatic missions, in 1793 and 1816, failed to obtain better treatment of British merchants in China, or a better basis for international trade; and little change might have been expected had not the East India Company's charter been abolished, in India in 1813, and in China in 1833. These changes were the direct result of the acquisition of power in Great Britain by a new class, owing its wealth and influence to the Industrial Revolution, with free trade as its commercial doctrine. The China trade fell firmly into the hands of those independent merchants who, while the East India Company remained in power, had had only limited chances of showing their capability.

The British led the way in demanding that the Chinese Government provide Europeans with a port, where they could be free to trade with whom they wished, under their own laws. Finally, on the long-term issue of proper treatment for foreign traders, and on the more immediate issue of the import of opium into China, war between Great Britain and China broke out (1839-42). In the course of this, the Emperor's negotiator with a British plenipotentiary, Captain Charles Elliot, R.N. provisionally offered the island of Hong Kong as a trading depot. This offer was immediately accepted, and without waiting for its confirmation the British occupied the island in January 1841. The cession of Hong Kong to the British Crown was confirmed by the Treaty of Nanking, 1842. From the start, Hong Kong was declared a free port, open to all comers, and thus it has grown into one of the world's greatest international trading centres.

In 1860, by the Convention of Peking, Kowloon and Stonecutters' Island were ceded to the Crown; and in 1898, by another Convention of Peking, the area known as the New Territories was leased to Great Britain for 99 years, thus bringing the Colony to its present size.

THE COLONY OF HONG KONG

Prior to 1841 there was no recognised name for the island of Hong Kong. The anchorage at Aberdeen was known to sailors as Heung Kong. The Chinese characters representing the name may be translated by "Fragrant Streams" or "Fragrant Harbour." Another possible rendering is "Heung's Harbour," the haunt of a notorious character named Heung.

Kowloon is the anglicised form of the Chinese Kau Lung (nine dragons). This name is derived from the ridge of nine hills which form a rampart along the northern side of the harbour and seem to guard the approach to China.

A book entitled "China" published in 1847, contains a chapter with the following heading: "Hong Kong, its position, prospects, character and utter worthlessness from every point of view to the English." To-day one laughs at that prophecy. However, when it was written there seemed to be reason for such gloomy forboding for the place had an unenviable reputation for rainstorms, typhoons, pirates, prisoners, malaria, dysentery; etc., and in England contempt for the new colony was expressed in the then popular song, "You may go to Hong Kong for me."

To-day this formerly despised possession is one of the world's busiest ports, and for an eastern city is remarkably clean, peaceable and healthy. As one writer remarks: "Hong Kong is a splendid example of what can be accomplished by energy and capital associated with the courage and restraint that go hand-in-hand with British colonisation. Over 100 years of patient administration by 24 Governors and 12 Administrators have brought Hong Kong into the front rank of the world's commerce. This happy achievement is due in no small measure to the harmonious working to two such different peoples as the British and the Chinese."

Hong Kong International Airport, which is situated on the North Shore of Kowloon Bay, is three miles from the centre of Kowloon. It is regularly used by twenty-four International Airlines which provide scheduled services to Europe, U.S.A., Canada, Australia and neighbouring territories in the Far East. In addition to this, numerous charter airlines use the airport from time to time. The runway, built on a promontory which has been reclaimed from the sea, extends in a South Easterly direction into the waters of Kowloon Bay. It is 8,350 feet long and 200 feet wide and is so constructed that the most modern aircraft with all up weights of over 400,000 pounds can now operate into Hong Kong.

The airport is equipped with full night flying facilities consisting of runway lights (high and low intensity), taxiway and approach lights (high and low intensity) with hazard beacons located at strategic points. Special high intensity "strobe lights" have been installed at the South East end of the runway promontory and at various points on the approaches to both runways, to aid pilots in conditions of poor visibility.

The whole system is integrated with long and medium range surveillance radar, precision approach radar, an instrument landing system and V.O.R. and radio beacons.

The new Terminal Building which came into use at the end of 1962 has since been extended to accommodate the increased number of passengers passing through the Airport. The Freight Building has also been extended to provide additional accommodation for the steadily increasing cargo traffic.

The Colony produces a wide range of articles, including cotton piece-goods, cotton yarn, cotton singlets, shirts, embroidered outer-wear, towels, bed, table and toilet linen, footwear, enamel and aluminium ware, metal, lanterns, plastic articles, including plastic flower and all types of toys, vacuum flasks and jugs, transistor radios, various types of electronic components, lacquers, varnishes and paints, rattan articles, iron and steel bars and rounds, cement and foodstuffs (including beverages).

The best time to visit Hong Kong is during the winter months, when the most pleasant conditions are enjoyed. Between March and May the weather is apt to be changeable and clammy, and from May till the end of September it is too hot and humid to be comfortable. The shade temperature ranges from 50 degree F. in January and February to 90 degree F. in the summer months, and greater extremes are known. The average shade temperature for the year is 72 degree F. Geologically, Hong Kong cannot be declared interesting, but it holds great attractions for the botanist and the entomologist. Its scenery is superb and there are few prettier drives than the one round the island or that on the mainland from Kowloon to Tai Po or Kowloon to Castle Peak. There are also glorious rambles to be had in winter on the island and in the mainland hills.

Few places can show such a variety of games and recreations. Golf, tennis and yachting are popular all the year round; football (Rugby and Association), cricket and hockey are played in the winter months; in the summer lawn bowls, lawn tennis and baseball are played, and perfect bathing is enjoyed. The Jockey Club hold a three-day Annual Meeting every February in addition to the many other race meetings throughout the year.

In Hong Kong East meets West. The latest from London, Paris and New York can be found cheek by jowl, with all the alluring work of the Orient. If one wishes to travel in town one may do so by motor-car, taxi, bus, tram and rickshaw, while in the harbour motor-boats, ferries, launches and sampans are at one's disposal.

The water is pure, the food good and plentiful, and hotel and boarding-house accommodation first class. Hong Kong boasts two Universities, secondary and primary schools, numerous places of worship, up-to-date hospitals, modern cinema houses, and the finest golf course (at Fan-ling, in the New Territories) in the Far East.

The Government of Hong Kong derives its constitutional authority from Letters Patent and Royal Instructions issued from time to time and is administered by a Governor assisted by an Executive Council and a Legislative Council. The Executive Council, which is consulted by the Governor on all important administrative matters, includes the Commander, British Forces, the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney-General, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, the Financial Secretary (who are members ex-officio), and such other members, both official and unofficial, as may be appointed. At present there is one appointed official member and eight appointed unofficial members, four of whom are Chinese, three British and one Portuguese.

The Legislative Council consists of the Governor as President, not more than twelve official members and not more than thirteen unofficial members. There are twelve official members, namely the Colonial Secretary, the Attorney-General, the Secretary for Chinese Affairs, the Financial Secretary (who are members ex-officio), the Director of Public Works, the Director of Medical and Health Services, the Director of Education, the Commissioner of Labour, the Director of Social Welfare, the Director of Commerce and Industry, the Director of Urban Services and the District Commissioner, New Territories; and thirteen unofficial members, of whom one is nominated by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Justices of the Peace. The remaining eleven, of whom nine are Chinese, one British and one Indian, are nominated by the Governor. The procedure of this Council, with the advice and consent of which all legislation is enacted and by which all expenditure from public funds has to be approved, is based on that of the House of Commons.

LOCAL STORM AND STRONG MONSOON SIGNALS

No.	Day Signal	Night Signal	Meaning	Explanatory Notes
Advisory	T	White White White	A tropical cyclone is centred within 400 nautical miles of Hong Kong which later, may cause winds up to hurricane force in the colony.	Watch for further signals and for warnings broadcast by radio. Staff required to take typhoon precautions should remain on call.
Strong Wind	⊥	Green White Green	Strong wind (mean wind speed 22-33 knots) expected.	Signal No. 3 conveys a warning of the onset of "strong winds" (Force 6 or 7, i.e. mean wind speed of 22 to 33 knots). Gales will probably exceed 45 knots and may reach over 60 knots. Generally, sailing craft, lighters and ships without power should be taken to shelter or secured to typhoon buoys or in a typhoon anchorage. Ships with power should move or prepare to move to typhoon buoys or to a typhoon anchorage.
Gale or Storm Force Winds From Direction Indicated	* ▲	White Green Green	Gale or storm force winds (mean wind speed 34 knots and upwards) expected from the NW quadrant.	Signals No. 5 to No. 8 give warning of the onset of gale and storm force winds from different directions (Force 8 to 11, i.e. mean wind speed of 34 to 63 knots). Gales will probably exceed 70 knots and may reach well over 100 knots. These signals are equally significant as to wind speed. When one of these signals is displayed, typhoon precautions not already taken must be put in hand immediately. It would be extremely dangerous to wait until Signal No. 9 or 10 is displayed before taking full precautions, as these are signals of great urgency.
	* ▼	Green White White	Gale or storm force winds (mean wind speed 34 knots and upwards) expected from the SW quadrant.
	* ◀	Green Green White	Gale or storm force winds (mean wind speed 34 knots and upwards) expected from the NE quadrant.
	* ▶	White White Green	Gale or storm force winds (mean wind speed 34 knots and upwards) expected from the SE quadrant.
Increasing Gale	⋈	Green Green Green	Wind expected to increase.	Signal No. 9 indicates that the winds are expected to increase. It may not be used if the direction in which the storm is moving or its increased intensity justify the display of Signal No. 10.
Typhoon	* ⊕	Red Green Red	Hurricane or typhoon force wind (mean wind speed 64 knots and upwards) expected. Any direction.	Signal No. 10 gives warning of hurricane force winds (mean wind speed of 64 knots or more) from any direction and indicates that the centre of the typhoon is expected to pass over or near to the Colony. When the centre of the typhoon passes over the Colony, there will be a lull varying in duration from a few minutes to some hours, after which there will be a sudden resumption of hurricane force winds from a different direction.
Strong Monsoon Signal	●	White Green White	Strong or gale force monsoon wind (mean wind speed 22-35 knots) in Hong Kong area.	The Black Ball (Strong Monsoon Signal) will sometimes be hoisted after winds have become strong. It will never be used to warn strong winds or gales associated with storms†

* International signals.

† This word is used here as a generic term meaning Tropical Depression, Tropical Storm, Severe Tropical Storm or Typhoon.

LEASED CIRCUITS

These are telegraph or speech circuits with places overseas provided for the exclusive use of a customer on a rental basis.

Leased telegraph circuits use subscribers' equipment similar to, although somewhat more elaborate than, that used for telex. The operating procedure is comparable except that of course the connection to the distant office is permanent (or on an agreed schedule basis).

Further information, including charges, can be obtained on application to Cable & Wireless, Commercial Department.

2. By telegrams in plain language are meant those of which the text and signature are wholly in plain language. The character of a telegram in plain language is not changed by the presence of:—

- (e) A mixture of the words and expressions mentioned in a. b. c. and d.

2. The mixture within a single group of any combination of letters, figures or signs which has a secret meaning shall not be permitted.

GENERAL POST OFFICE, HONG KONG

General Information

In general the limits of weight and dimensions and other conditions (except postage rates) prescribed for surface mails, apply also to articles to be sent by air. Particulars are available at any Post Office of those categories of articles which are prohibited transmission owing to their dangerous nature.

Countries are divided into four zones according to distance for the purpose of charging air postage on letter mail. The air postage rates for letter mails to the four zones are shown in the table below:

Zones	Letters (each ½ oz.)	Postcards (each) Second Class Mail (each ½ oz.)
1	50 ¢	25 ¢
2	$1.30	65 ¢
3	$2.00	$1.00
4	$2.50	$1.25

A BLUE AIR MAIL LABEL, obtainable free at any post office, should be affixed to all air mail correspondence at the top left hand corner on the address side. Or you may write the words BY AIR MAIL boldly in the same place, but the label is more likely to catch the sorter's eye.

AEROGRAMMES (Air Letter forms) may be sent to all countries at a uniform rate of 50 cents. Enclosures are not permitted. You may get the special forms at Post Office or use privately-manufactured forms which bear a statement that they have been approved by the Postmaster-General with the approval number. Unapproved forms will be treated as ordinary air mail letters.

SECOND CLASS AIR MAIL. Printed papers, Samples, Small Packets, Blind literature, etc., sent by air must conform to the regulations for such articles apart from those relating to weight steps, and must be clearly marked in the upper left hand corner of the cover for the service intended, "Printed Papers", "Samples" etc. In particular the minimum charge of 75 cents for a Small Packet applies. Such items must not be sealed against inspection and must not contain anything in the nature of a current letter.

INSURED LETTERS AND BOXES may be sent by air to the countries indicated, subject to the same regulations as insured letters and boxes sent by surface. The normal insurance and registration fees are payable in addition to the letter air postage rate in the case of airmail letters, and in addition to the second class air postage rate in the case of insured boxes. Insured boxes are subject to the minimum charge of $1.50 plus the insurance.

AIR PARCELS may be sent by air to the countries shown, subject to the general regulations applicable to surface parcels as regards weight limitations, customs declarations, despatch notes, compensations, etc. Insured parcels are accepted for the countries indicated on following pages. A blue air mail label must be affixed to the address side of the parcel and to the despatch note.

EXPRESS service is available for airmails and air parcels to the United Kingdom only.

CORRECT POSTAGE ESSENTIAL. Please make sure that the correct postage is paid: under-paid airmail items may be sent by surface route and suffer delay.

NOTE: The latest times of posting shown in this leaflet are subject to alteration due to changes in schedules, delay to aircraft etc. Day to day details of despatches are published in the local newspapers.

COMPARE YOUR INVESTMENT WITH CAPITAL GROWTH FUND

This U.S. dollar mutual fund aggressively seeks capital growth. For each investment you make Capital Growth Fund fortifies your investment with added capital from their Swiss Banking arrangements. This successful formula has resulted in an average increase of 25% a year!

See the record below:

October 1 1963	5.11	+22.5%
October 1 1964	6.21	+21.5%
October 1 1965	8.32	+33.9%
October 1 1966	10.37	+24.6%
October 1 1967	15.79	+52.3%

Minimum fully paid investment US$500.00 with US$100.00 or more for further investments at any time. Periodic Investment plans are available in units ranging from US$1,000 to US$25. You can take your money out at full net asset value at any time or you can leave it in the fund for further growth indefinitely.

Any letter your company has ever received found instantly... at the push of a button—on microfilm.

Controlling the information explosion—like your morning mail—is push-button easy on microfilm. Here's how the Recordak system works:

As letters and documents arrive, microfilm them and simultaneously key-punch information into index cards. This simple operation lets you put your business house in order. It cuts down on filing time, puts needed information at your fingertips in a matter of seconds. Retrieving information is as easy as referring to the index card, which locates the microfilm roll which, in turn shows you the document on a full-size screen. You can also reproduce any document on paper, if you like. All in all, this Recordak system is the modern way to streamline information handling, cut costs, save space, and safeguard your records.
